Break Points In My Learning Journey

Learn By Building Projects

NOVEMBER 2021

- Breaking the tutorial hell, I joined an open-source course called The Odin Project.
- The main points that this course enforce is to
 - Urge you to read more articles and the documentations to build your research skills and get used to reading text rather than needing visual explanation for newer concepts.
 - Reduce the hand hold intensity in your learning journey and gradually letting you fly on your own by forcing you to build projects yourself from scratch.

EgFwd Scholarship On Udacity, Ministry of Communications and Information Technology

JANUARY 2022 – AUGUST 2022

- This period of time I joined an online scholarship sponsored by the Ministry of Communication and Information Technology of Egypt.
- This was the first time I participate In a course with an organised curriculum, easily accessible learning materials, a deadline, and a graduate project that's reviewed and rated by professionals in the field.
- I made my way through the scholarship and I remember I was progressing quite fast because at the time I never met new concepts on my way.
- It was a good experience, I really appreciate it.

The Complete 2023 Web Development Bootcamp by Dr Angela, Udemy

AUGUST 2023 – SEPTEMBER 2023

- I can't say enough about this course, but one thing I can say is after this course I feel much confident about my ability to handle a full working website from the front-end to the back-end and adding Integrations.
